CLAIM CRUSHING BLOW TO RUSSIANS

Germans Believe Way is Now Open for Western Swing of Hosts.

RUSS ADMITS DEFEAT

Emperors William and Francis Joseph Will Meet in Recaptured Galician Fortress.

London, June 24—Lemberg has been taken by the Austro-German allies. The Russian army in Southeast Galicia has been cut off from the army of the north, according to unofficial dispatches from Berlin and Vienna The press of both Teuton capitals claims that the Slavs have been dealt a blow which leaves the way open for immense German and Austrian force to be rush at once to the French and Italian fronts.

The troops of the second army, General von Boehm-Ermolli at their head, marched into Lemberg, amid the wild acclaim of the populace. The final victory was won under the eyes of the Kaiser, who had arrived at the front several days before to spur his men on to the final effort.

The Russians are in rapid retreat to the eastward, their campaign of months an utter failure. They withdrew from Lemberg in good order, however, leaving behind a strong rear guard. Practically all of their heavy guns were removed and little booty is believed to have fallen into the hands of the Teutons.

Vienna newspapers consider the capture of Lemberg marks not only the end of the Russian dominion of Galacia, but also the complete breakdown of the Russian army. The claim is made that the Russian armies have been split, that the forces in the southeast are separated from those in the north, stretching across Poland to the sea, and that the entire Russian campaign has received such a shattering blow that the Slav menace is removed for months at least.

An official dispatch was received here from Petrograd admitting the loss of Lemberg. It states that the Russians evacuated the city in good order and are retreating to a new front.

Other dispatches from the Russians capital state that Czar Nicholas has left for the Galician front to urge his troops to renewed efforts.

Emperor Francis Joseph the aged ruler of Austria-Hungary, also is going to the front. He and Emperor William will meet in Lemberg, a dispatch from Vienna states, for ceremonies to mark the end of Russian rule in Galicia.

EXCITEMENT CONTINUES.

Movement to Drive Hebrews From Georgia City—Guarding Frank From Violence.

Atlanta, Ga., June 24.—A committee of Atlanta Hebrews, composed of men and women, appealed yesterday to Solicitor Hugh Dorsey, who prosecuted Leo Frank, to assist in checking a movement to drive the Hebrews from Marietta, a populous town about 20 miles from Atlanta.

The feeling in Marietta is very intense, as it is the birthplace of Mary Phagan and she is buried there.

It is also the home of former Gov. Joseph M. Brown, who strongly opposed commutation for Frank. According to the Atlanta Hebrews letters have been sent to Marietta Hebrew residents ordering them to leave town. Notices also have been posted on the stores of Hebrew merchants warning them they cannot do business in Marietta. Solicitor Dorsey got into communication with Solicitor Herbert Clay at Marietta and told him of the appeal. Clay promised to do what he could to protect the Marietta Hebrews in event of any attempt to molest them.

Atlanta was normal on the surface yesterday. Most of the troops were removed from Gov. Slaton's country home, only a small guard being left.

Demonstrations against Gov. Slaton continue over Georgia. He was hanged and burned in effigy at Columbus in the presence of a great crowd, many of whom were women and girls. It is said three girls were given pistols by their fathers and fired into the governor's effigy.

No trouble is reported at the State prison farm near Milledgeville, where Frank is confined, though double guards are still on duty.

Milledgeville, Ga., June 24.—As the result of rumors of a possible attack on the Georgia prison farm here, where Leo M. Frank is confined, the number of guards on both day and night duty have been increased and an extra supply of ammunition was received.

WILSON AND HOUSE CONFER.

President and His Personal Envoy Spend Morning Discussing European Situation.

Roslyn, L. I., June, 24—Col. E. M. House, generally credited with being President Wilson's personal envoy to sound out the belligerent capitals of Europe on their attitude toward peace, this morning told the President what he had observed in his tour.

Their heads close together, talking earnestly the two friends spent entire morning in a little pergola on the lawn of the House summer home here, uninterrupted.

The President arrived here shortly after 9 o'clock. He was met by Colonel House and taken immediately to the latter's home. A large crowd greeted the Executive and cheered and waved flags as he came down the steps of his private car. The President acknowledged the reception by smiling and raising his hat.

A flock of telegrams were awaiting the President here, congratulating him on his selection of Robert Lansing as permanent Secretary of State.

DERNBURG DETAINED.

Ship on Which he is Travelling Delayed at Kirkwall.

London, June 24.—The Norwegian steamer Bergensfjord, with Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, German propagandist, and his wife aboard, has been detained at Kirkwall with the Swedish steamer Varing, from Savannah. The Bergensfjord was due to reach Bergen today. The government has not made public its reasons for detaining the steamer.

State Auditor C. Lee Moore has announced his intention to call upon Attorney General John Garland Pollard to institute suit on the bond of J. O. Bradley, former treasurer of Washington County, whose accounts with the State were found short some months ago. "The former has not made a complete statement," said the auditor, "and I am asking the attorney general to bring the suit to protect the State against possible loss. We will sue to recover $16,000, although Bradley's real indebtedness does not amount to that much. He will probably have some offsets to put in against our claim."

Richmond, June, 24.—While the holders of the old Virginia bonds are planning a mode of procedure to be followed in the event that West Virginia refuses to settle its debt to Virginia in accordance with the terms of the final decision of the Supreme Court of the United States some interest is evinced by the public in the extent of the holdings in Virginia.

Americans Returning From Holland Say They Believe Country Will Enter War.

New York, June 24—Passengers arriving yesterday on the Holland-American liner Noordam, from Rotterdam, brought more accounts of the growth of anti-German feeling in Holland.

Among them were Americans who have terminated their residence in Holland because they believe the little kingdom will enter the war if the German program for the annexation of Belgium is carried out.

"So far as I could observe, the people of Holland believe their independence is menaced by German absorption of Beligum," said M. Fromkes, an American painter, who has lived in Holland a year. "Holland today has an army of 400,000 men, and within a few months more she will have 900,000 men under arms or training. The Dutch are further incensed by the sacrificing of their shipping by undiscriminating commanders of German submarines."

The chief cause of indignation in the land of dykes seems to be the articles which have appeared in German papers forecasting the annexation of Holland as well as Belgium at the close of the war.

WOULD AVOID TROUBLE

Suppression of the Deutsche Tages Regarded as Significant.

Berlin, June 24—The suppression of the Deutsche Tages Zeitung for aggravating the American situation is considered of the greatest international significance. It is generally believed that the drastic action taken in regard to the Tages Zeitung means a continuance of the Kaiser's policy of avoiding unnecessary complications with neutral powers, especially the United States. A prominent statesman of the Wilhelmstrasse is quoted as saying:

"The motive underlying the suppression of the Tages Zeitung is the German Government's honest desire to consider American interests fairly, without abandoning their own rightful privileges. Several newspapers have persevered in handicapping the Government's peaceful endeavors. The Tages Zeitung has been especially vindictive, and since the Lusitania sinking it has persisted in aggravating the difficult German-American situation.

"The suppression, however, must not be interpreted by Americans as indicating the abandonment of submarine warfare by the German Government. It was aimed solely at preventing excesses by newspapers, whether conservative or radical, tending to increase the complications. The time and extent of the suppressions are uncertain, but the punishment must be considered as a warning to all trouble-making newspapers.

"While the Government has been anxious in good faith to continue the negotiations with the United States for a mutually satisfactory settlement, without receding from a policy which will enable us to retain our self-respect and at the same time without losing sight of the object of the war, these newspapers have discredited Germany's statesmen and have denounced them as spineless weakings, anxious to discontinue submarine warfare.

"The American Government seems to overlook the fact that new war instruments demand the applying of new legal rules, as was done at the latest Hague congress in reference to aeroplanes. Germany cannot discontinue submarine warfare without abandoning her most important weapon.

"It is not our intention to hurt unnecessarily the feelings of any neutral nation, but we will not permit anybody to interfere with our submarine operations. We do not intend to torpedo neutral vessels. If any such case has happened it was due to a mistake on our part, for which we will atone, or it was the fault of the vessel in trying to escape in flying false colors or in not properly displaying neutral singals.

"We do not sink neutrals for fun. We are sorry for every mistake, but we would consider it a favor if neutrals would get out of our way and thus avoid getting hurt by accident.

"Even English merchant vessels are torpedoed only in cases of absolute necessity. No American will deny us our rightful privilege of sinking vessels carrying ammunition liable to destroy thousands of German lives.

"In the meantime, until the Luistania investigation is concluded, the newspapers must carefully refrain from aggravating the situation.

"This is the principal object and the significance of the suppression of the Tages Zeitung."

STORY OFFICIALLY DENIED.

This Country Did Not Prevent Movement of Japanese Troops.

Washington, June 24.—Official denial of the story printed at The Hague that Japan was prevented from sending 300,000 troops to Europe as the result of an unofficial hint to Great Britain, from Washington, is made today at the State Department.

The United States government, it was announced at the department, never has made any suggestions about the question of sending Japanese troops to Europe or withdrawal of Japanese troops from Manchuria.

GERMAN CRY IS "ON TO PARIS!"

Wave of Enthusiasm in Berlin by Capture of Lemberg.

WILD OVER VICTORY.

Populace Want Galician Army Hosts Hurled Against French and British in Western Zone.

Berlin, June 24.—"On to Paris!" was the cry that ran through Berlin today on the wave of enthusiasm that followed the capture of Lemberg.

Popular sentiment unanimously favors an abandonment of the Galician offensive in favor of a gigantic drive on the French capital.

In the streets, in the shops, in every place where people gathered to talk of the victory over the Russians, was voiced the belief that the Galician army hosts should be hurried from their scenes of triumph in the east and hurled against the French and British lines in northern France

Obviously, no hint has come from the war office regarding what is to follow the fall of Lemberg. But well-informed military men here today doubted that Mackensen's armies would be seen in action along the Franco-Flanders line in the near future.

The general belief is that Germany will send re-enforcements into the Russian Baltic provinces and renew the drive upon Riga. The Kaiser is said to be determined to deal the Czar's armies a blow from which they cannot well recover, before starting a fresh offensive against the French.

FEAR OF REVOLUTION.

German Rumor That Italy Has Proposed to Austria a Peace Scheme.

Berlin, June 24.—The special correspondent of the Taeglieche Rundschau, at Vienna, telegraphs he has learned on excellent authority that Italy, realizing already the impossibility of making headway against Austria, has proposed to Austria that she withdraw slowly from the region formerly offered to Italy as compensation, in return for which Italy pledges herself to cease all military activity except for the occupation o f this territory. This proposal was made to Austria through neutral persons. "Italy," the correspondent continues, "is ready to make a new alliance after the war. The Italian government is fearful of a revolution."

Members of the crew of the German auxiliary cruiser Kronprinz Wilhelm, interned at Norfolk, are showing friends medals they received from their government for the part they took in the sinking of thirteen merchant ships of the allied nations. Officers of the ship also received medals, and Captain Thierfelder is reported to have received a message of congratulation from the Kaiser through the German ambassador at Washington. Members of the German auxiliary cruiser Eitel Friedrich, have received no medals from home. Captain Thierichens, who commanded the Eitel, said to have been promoted several points in rank in the German navy. The Kronprinz Wilhelm because she carried a merchant crew when she started on her sea-raiding voyage, is said to have caused greater joy in Germany for what she accomplished than did the Eitel.

$100,000,000 WAR ORDER.

Magnitude of Contract Beyond Anything Single Firm Has Received so Far.

Pittsburgh, June 24.—The largest order received by any one firm in the United States since the opening of the European holocaust has been booked by the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company, of East Pittsburgh. The magnitude of the order is such that a conference between Herman Westinghouse, President E. M. Herr and high officials of the company was held here Monday and Tuesday, to discuss it. Another meeting was held yesterday in New York, President Herr and Sales Manager S. W. Nicholson having gone there to attend.

While the utmost secrecy is maintained here by those in position to know the full amount and details of the contract, it is learned that the total value of the munitions contracted for will approximate $100,000,000. Shrapnel bottles, large and small calibre high velocity projectiles, bomb casings and many varied classes of war munitions are included in the order.

Work will begin at once on the contract, and it is understood the Westinghouse Company is arranging to instal new machinery in its big East Pittsburgh plants to turn out the material. The order is said to have been placed through English representatives, but the munitions are said to be for the English, French and Russian war and naval departments.

HER PEACE PLEAS VAIN

Jane Addams Visits to Belligerent Nations Disappointing.

London, June 24—The firm sentiment prevails in all the belligerent nations that the war must be pushed to a decisive victory, according to Miss Jane Addams, who has just returned to London from a visit to the warring countries on the continent.

In an interview tonight Miss Addams told of seeing the heads of the various belligerent governments, who, while taking note of the efforts of the women of America and other nations for mediation, actually held out no hope that they would be successful.

In every country visited Miss Addams said she found the high authorities willing enough to listen to any peace proposal that might be made, but no indication was given that any movement in that direction would be of avail.

Congressman Montague on Tuesday stated to a committee representing the Congressional Union for Woman's Suffrage that he would not vote for the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States granting equal suffrage. Members of the union called on the congressman after a short street meeting on Main street. Congressman Montague indicated that he might vote for equal suffrage if the movement had assumed the weight it has gained in some of the Western States. The movement being practically new in Virginia, has not yet gained sufficient public favor, he said, to make him feel justified in supporting it.

In a statement made by President Wheelright, of the Virginia Railway and Power Company, it is indicated that the jitneys are now making inroads of about $500 a day on the company's revenue in Richmond, the actual loss in receipts in May due to the jitney invasion having been $18,000.

COURT HEARS OF NIGHTLY VISITS

Midshipman Reagle Alleged to Have Possesed Requisite Means.

ROAMED AT HIS WILL.

Witnesses Tell of Entering Departments in Search of Class Marks and General Information.

Anapolis Md., June 24—The court of inquiry, investigating irregularities in the Naval Academy examination papers, have gone further into the matter of secret visits by midshipmen to the offices of various heads of departments.

C. M. Reagle, of the former third class, who admitted that he had roamed through several of the departments with the aid of a master key, a pair of pliers and a pocket searchlight, figures largely in testimony.

W. D. Jones, a classmate, testified that he had accompanied Reagle on one of the nocturnal expeditions in search of midshipmen's class marks in advance of their being given out. Asked if he had known Reagle to have any other advance information in his possession, Jones said he at one time had seen Reagle with a mechanical drawing which he (Reagle) thought would be a sheet in the next exercises in mechanical drawing. Jones thought Reagle's sums had proved correct.

In answer to another question Jones said he did not think much of Reagle's integrity and his opinion was shared by the majority of Reagle's company. The same answer was given later by William F. Dietrich of the same class

Dietrich said Reagle was intimate with Nelson, who with six others had been recommended for dismissal for making use of advance information on examinations.

A roommate of Reagle, W. H. Hopkins, Jr., testified that he had obtained advance information from Reagle on the last annual English examination. Reagle had told him to gathered the "dope" from other midshipmen, but Hopkins said he had since heard from three of four midshipmen that it was reported Reagle had got it from the English department.

David Glick, who followed Hopkins on the stand, said he and Reagle had gone into the English department to look for marks. The two also had entered the modern languages department about ten days before the examination. Glick said Reagle had a key that would open a door into the modern languages department.

LANSING MADE SECRETARY OF STATE

Robert Lansing, who as counseler of the State Department, has advised President Wilson in law and precedent in the policy pursued by the United States toward belligerent governments since the outbreak of the European war, was named yesterday Secretary of State to succeed Wiliam Jennings Bryan.

A commission was prepared which President Wilson signed, giving Mr. Lansing a recess appointment. When Congress reconvenes the nomination will go to the Senate. Mr. Lansing is a lifelong Democrat, but he has devoted his time to international law and diplomacy and is as popular with former Republican officials as with his colleagues. Members of the Cabmet who talked with the President on the subject were unanimous in their recommendation that he should be recommendation that he should be appointed

One of the peculiar circumstances connected with Mr. Lansing's appointment is the fact that he personally has no political backing or influence. This very fact, indeed, commended itself to the President's advisers as a reason, for the appointment of a man of Mr. Lansing's experience and ability, the argument being advanced that at so critical a time in the nation's history the people of the United States wished all political considerations subordinated. Mr. Lansing takes office thoroughly familiar with the personnel and organization of the Department of State, conversant with confidential details of all the important negotiations conducted by the United States since the Wilson administration began. Moreover, he has a wide knowledge of policies under previous administrations, and an especially intimate acquaintance with Mexican affairs and far Eastern problems.

Mr. Lansing is 51 years old, a native of Watertown, N. Y. He is one of the founders of the American Society of International Law and has written a book on constitutional law. He has associated for years with diplomatists at home and abroad and is well liked by members of diplomatic corps in Washington. He is a man of means.

The Baltimore American in referring to the new Premier says:

"It is a relief to the country to have a man like Robert Lansing in the place of Bryan, the wordsmith, as the London papers now speak of him. The majority of Americans had heretofore regarded the Chautauqua lecturer as a harmless fellow, who regarded his position as a part pay for his political services to the President. Here of late, however, he has branched out as a troublemaker, bent upon doing all in his power to embarrass the administration. He is now hobnobbing with the elements of unrest and disquiet and there is no telling how far he will go before he gets through."

ANTI-SEMITIC CRY IN GEORGIA.

Many years have elapsed since an attempt has been made in America to wage social war upon the Jewish race. A. T. Stewart, a New York dry goods king, died in 1876. At that time he conducted the largest dry goods business in the United States, having seevral stores in the metropolis. His retsil house occupies an entire block on Broadway, running back to Fourth avenue. After his death the business was continued by the late Judge Hilton. Stewart had owned a large hotel at Saratoga, and after his death Hilton issued an order denying Jews entertainment at that hostelry. His excuse for this action was based upon complaints of other patrons, who alleged that Hebrews were obnoxious to them, it being alleged among other things, that they demanded the best of everything. At that time many Hebrews throughout the country made their purchases from the Stewart house. They made no open boast of their intentions to resent Hilton's action, but a silent boycott of Stewart's successor followed, and in a short time the business of the great house, founded by one of the most astute merchants who has ever appeared, began to decline, and it eventually became necessary to put up the blinds. John Wanamaker later leased the building and enjoyed a satisfactory share of patronage.

While France was convulsed a few years ago by the Dreyfus case, and occasional outbreaks against the Jews were conducted in Paris, the United States looked upon such acts as relics of medieval days, and rejoiced that race prejudice found no sympathy in the western world.

It is not now, however. The gubernatorial mansion of Georgin's chief executive is at this time surrounded with barbed wire and soldiers are kept near his person to protect him from mobs which are incensed because he dared to perform his conscientious duty in preventing what he feared might prove a judicial murder.

After burning their governor in effigy and applying to him all sorts of epithets, finding themselves balked in attempts to do him bodily injury, they have turned their guns upon inoffensive Israelites because the man they wanted hanged is a member of that ancient race. They have not only resorted to the boycott, but are using unlawful means looking to their banishment from the state.

Frank may or may not be of the guilty of the murder of the little factory girl in Atlanta. While the circumstances are decidedly against him, it is possible for his asseverations of innocence to prove correct. At any rate, the Governor of Georgia is not convinced of his guilt and the world should commend him for acting conscientiously notwithstanding his action is condemned by so many of his constituents. He has not played the part of Pontius Pilate by washing his hands of a responsibility. He has boldly taken the bull by the horns, braving the consequences.

THOUGHT IT A WAR OF PARTIES.

According to a story now being told in Freeling, Va., there is a mountaineer who supposes that the great war now in progress is a contest between democrats and republicans. This individual who is a living attestation of the truth of the saying "Ignorance is a voluntary misfortune," recently asked an acquaintance whether the democrats or the republicans were getting the best of the contest. He further said he knew the two parties would get to war if they kept running big men against each other for President.

About a year after the close of the war between the states a long, lank individual with a gun upon his shoulder walked into Richmond for the purpose of surrendering, he having, he said, just learned that the war was over.

It is said to be a fact that numbers of residents of the mountainous sections of Virginia continued to vote for Andrew Jackson for President years after "Old Hickory" had passed into the other world.

CONCESSIONS ARE EXPECTED.

According to dispatches from Berlin, Germany, in her reply to the second American note, will make important concessions in the interests of those "principles of humanity" for which President Wilson declared America was contending. Germany may even give assurance that lives of all neutrals will be safeguarded. It is possible the German reply may suggest certain distinguishing marks for vessels carrying non-contraband cargoes to insure them against submarine attack. The German answer, it is said will mark a distinct advance toward securing that freedom of the seas for which Germany is fighting.

BAYONETS ROUT TURKS

Paris Reports Success of Charge At Dardanelles, With Heavy Losses To Defenders.

Paris, June 24—The following communique relative to operations at the Dardanelles has been issued by the War Office

"The expeditionary corps in the Orient attacked yesterday after preparation by artillery. The infantry left their trenches with superb elation and our left carried at a single bound two lines of Turkish trenches, which they held in spite of numerous and violent counter-attacks.

"On the right, over more difficult terrain, the fighting lasted all day and was carried on over lines of adverse earthworks razed by artillery. The Turks, continually bringing forward fresh troops, had succeeded by evening in retaking their entrenchments when a battalion of the foreign legion and a battalion of zouaves gave assault with the bayonet and carried the position in 10 minutes. This brilliant charge decided the success and put an end for the day to all Turkish efforts to regain their lost ground.

"In a counter offensive against our right this morning the Turks were decimated without any advantage to themselves, and the day ended by success for us along the whole line. In spite of the fierceness of the fight we took prisoners, among whom were some officers.

"The cruiser St. Louis effectively bombarded the batteries on the Asiatice slopes. On our left the British Army lent effective support.

Everything confirms the statement that the Turkish losses were very heavy. One important point is that we have occupied terrain commanding the head of Kereves Dere Ravine, which the Turks have defended desperately and regardless of cost for several months past."

VIRGINIA DECREE ENTERED

United States Judgment Against West Virginia Largest Against Any State.

In conformity with its opinion handed down on the 14th instant, the Supreme Court of the United States has entered its decree in the case of the commonwealth of Virginia against the state of West Virginia for the sum of $12,393,929.50, of which $4,215,622.28 is principal and $8,178,307.22 is interest, thus constituting the largest judgment that has ever been entered against a state.

The decree also provides for interest on the total judgment of 5 per cent per annum from July 1, 1915 until paid, which imposes an additional burden upon the state of West Virginia by way of interest of something in excess of $600,000 annually.

An informal motion was filed in the clerk's office by counsel representing the bondholders, to whom a large part of the above decree was due, asking for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of the fund when collected from the state of West Virginia, and the commonwealth of Virginia, through Attorney E. Hilton Jackson, was in court Tuesday for the purpose of opposing any such application on behalf of the commonwealth of Virginia, its contention being that the case having been prosecuted in the name and at the cost of the state, the latter is the proper one to receive the amount from the state of West Virginia.

It is expected that this motion will be formally presented when the court convenes next October.

Committee of "Labor Peace Conference" Did Not See President.

President Wilson yesterday refused to grant an audience to the committee of the "Labor's Peace Conference," headed by Representative Frank Buchanan, of Illinois.

There exists a carefully organized association of interests opposed to his European policy, and which hopes to set behind the President a back-fire which will force him to weaken his position of insistence upon the rights and privileges of the United States.

Held together by one or more common aim or interest, this association includes the following factors:

1. Wiliam Jennings Bryan, secretary of State until recently, who announced upon his resignation that he would seek to force the President to change his international policy.

2. German-American sentiment, of which there are several leaders, real and assumed, which seek to bring about a weakening in the President's demand for freedom of the seas.

3. Southern cotton interests, which are urging a more vigorous protest on the part of this government against the British order in council blockade.

4. Importers of and industries dependent upon German products, such as dyestuffs, drugs, and other chemicals, who likewise wish to break down the British orders in council.

5. Universal peace circles, which are employing people who command personal followings in the organization of peace societies, with a view to impeding the enormous task ahead of the administration of placing the army and navy of the United States upon a basis of preparedness.

Peace-at-any-price leaders are seeking to make all these interests common to the attempt to prevent necessary changes in the army and navy which the country now demands as the result of the lessons drawn from the European war. Former Secretary of State Bryan is said to be a wiling enough tool, if not a leader in the movement. Others, to accomplish their purposes—conciliation toward Germany and concessions from Great Britain—are willing enough to go along and seek to drag their fellows in.

Urged, if not actually financed, by some so-called peace movement, Representative Buchanan, of Illinois, and former Representative Fowler, of the same State, with a number of Chicago labor leaders, are at present seeking to organize a strong labor movement against adequate preparation for national defense.

Veiled behind high-sounding phrases is a movemeut to club the President into preventing increases of improvement in army and navy. This movement has not the backing of the American Federation of Labor, and will not have that backing, although misleading phrases in its literature seek to lend an impression to the contrary. President Gompers has been at particular pains to isolate himself from the movement.

Representatives Buchanan and Fowler recently received a dash of cold water from the Carnegie Peace Foundation, which refused financial backing to their movement.

How Mrs. Harrod Got Rid of Her Stomach Trouble

"I suffered with stomach trouble for years and tried everything I heard of, but the only relief I got was temporary until last spring I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them at our drug store.
